A SITE FOR SORE EYES

As many of you know, there are a number of websites out there that could be helpful to Children's Workers and Sunday School Teachers. One that we have been mentioning is www.textools.org. This site has been developed by Ben Prins of the Sarnia, ON Assembly and has a wide application. One of the corners includes SS Helps under Planting Tools. Rita Dennison from the Saginaw, MI assembly has done a great deal of editing and preparing to make these attainable on the website. For those of you who would like the 4 year SS LESSON SETS—and have not yet obtained a copy, there is an easy way to do it. Look under Sharp Sessions. This should be of particular interest to our international friends as it will save them mailing costs. You can search the set for keywords and print individual lessons as desired or you can print the whole set. Also available on that site eventually will be my SS TEACHERS HELPER and David Jones Lessons under Chile Connection. Future plans also include adding to John Dennison's Light Lessons. Similar printing capabilities are also available for these. This site also offers Illustrated Scripture Verses suitable for SS Rewards.

YES— HE DID ...

A week ago at Sunday School, Jeff was just gathering things up after his class and a blond-haired petite little girl named Ivory came up to him and said “ I know why Jesus died!” My son tried to draw her out a little more by asking, “Why?” Right away she said., “Jesus died for simple men!” While we can certainly enjoy the humour of the situation, perhaps... just perhaps... someone could be just simple (and sinful!) enough to take this truth in this week!
