A vision appeared to Paul in the night: a man of Macedonia was standing there, urging him and saying, "Come over to Macedonia and help us."

We made a voyage to Philippi, which is a leading city of the district of Macedonia and a Roman colony. We remained in this city some days.

And on the Sabbath day we went outside the gate and spoke to the women who had come together. One who heard us was a woman named Lydia, from the city of Thyatira, a seller of purple goods, who was a worshiper of God. The Lord opened her heart to pay attention to what was said by Paul.

Paul and Silas were preaching the gospel in the city of Philippi when the authorities got angry.

These men are Jews, and they are disturbing our city. They advocate customs that are not lawful for us as Romans to accept or practice.

Suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken. Immediately all the doors were opened, and everyone's bonds were unfastened.

Paul and Silas sang praises to God at midnight even though they were in jail. Down from the glory the Savior came. Down to the cross and the death of shame. Gazing in wonder I there exclaim. Jesus died for me!

The crowd joined in attacking them, and the city leaders tore the garments off them and gave orders to beat them with rods. They threw them into prison, ordering the jailer to keep them safely.

When the leaders of the town realized that Paul and Silas were Roman citizens, they were afraid. They took Paul and Silas out of jail and asked them to leave the city.

immediately all the doors were opened, and everyone's bonds were unfastened.

Our chains are loosed. We are free! God has heard our prayers!

The prison is open! I'm sure that the prisoners have escaped. They are going to kill me.

Don't worry. We are all here.

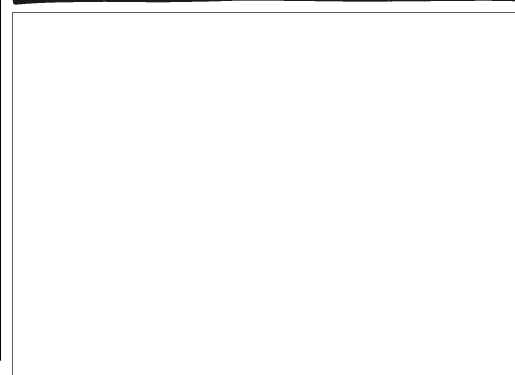

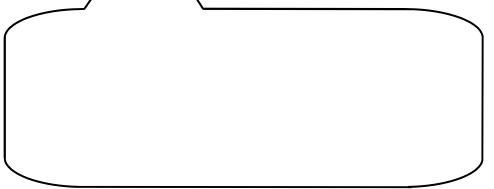

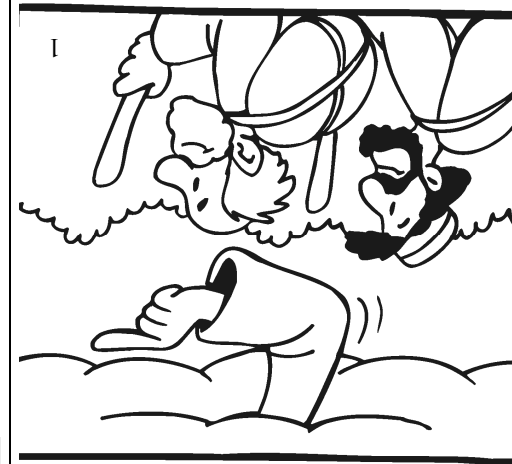

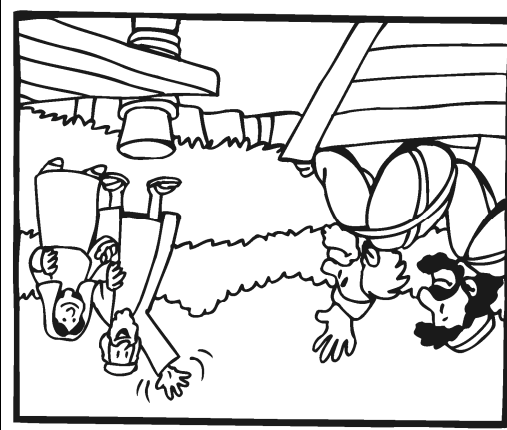

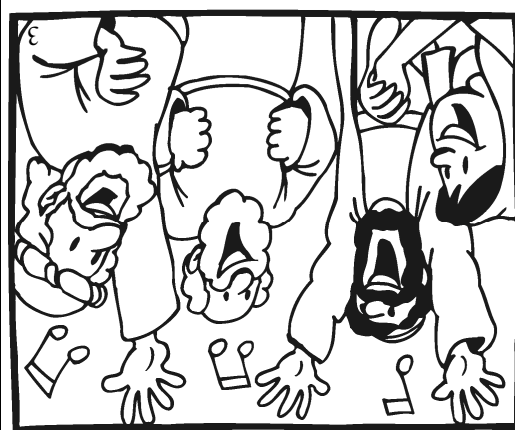

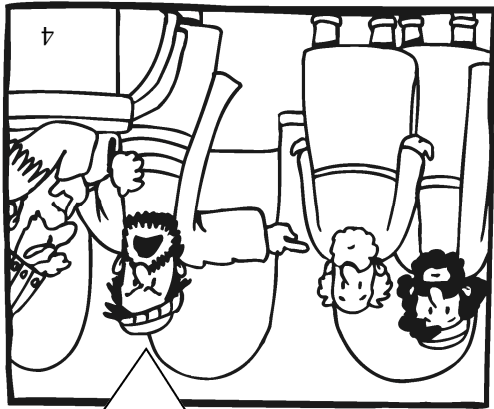

Sirs, what must I do to be saved?

Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and you will be saved—you and your house.

We were met by a slave girl who had a spirit of divination and brought her owners much gain by fortune-telling. Paul turned and said to the spirit, "I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her." And it came out that very hour.
